Lucas Alves Costa: Um lugar para estar

July 13 – August 25, 2019

Galeria Palácio is pleased to present Um lugar para estar, Lucas Alves Costa's third solo exhibition with the gallery. The viewer is invited to participate in a new immersive experience in virtual reality, with homonymous title to the exhibition.

When compared the experience of being in a natural environment and the experience of being in a virtual environment, which replicates a natural environment, visualized through virtual reality. Is it possible for similar emotional results to be obtained?

In Um lugar para estar (VR, 2018–2019), is introduced to the viewer the notion of being present in a natural environment from an experience in virtual reality, deconstructing the need for physical dimensions to be in a natural environment. Um lugar para estar is presented in two POV viewing versions, for the free choice during the experience: daytime and nighttime. The virtual reality experience is simultaneously transmitted to the rest of the public present at the exhibition.

Being outdoors, seeing vegetation and the sky, feeling in touch with nature, are associated with high levels of emotional well-being. A close result is expected in an experience introduced in virtual reality, which visually replicates a natural environment. The viewer is proposed to perform an insight exercise on the capacity of a virtual environment to play the same emotional role as a natural environment. The relationship between human beings and the physical environment in which he finds himself as a direct influence to define his emotional state.

In Terreno (2019), a small 3D printed sculpture is presented on a plinth. The portion of geographic space utilized for the construction of the virtual environment introduced in Um lugar para estar is physically materialized in a miniature. From a small scale, is proposed a perception and notion to the spatial dimension of the virtual environment.

In A incidência de luz em um ambiente virtual (2019), two screenshots taken by Lucas Alves Costa in the virtual environment of Um lugar para estar are presented printed on Foam plates, introducing the two visualization versions proposed in the virtual experience: daytime and nighttime.

Lucas Alves Costa (1996, Porto Alegre, Brazil) lives and works in Porto Alegre.
